Lincolnite Queen

HAIL THE QUEEN!

Miss Clarice Wood wins in the annual popularity contest.

The candidates for Lincolnite Queen were chosen from the three Senior girls' advisory groups. The contestants, Clarice Wood, Jewel Milligan, and Louise Franklin, received the hearty support of their advisory group as well as the school. Interesting posters were placed in the halls; house-to-house canvassing was carried on. The whole community was "Lincolnite conscious" during the week of the campaign.

From this extremely exciting contest Clarice Wood of Miss Barker's advisory emerged victorious. The school is very proud to bow in obeisance to such a vivacious and gracious queen. May she conquer all things as she has conquered in this campaign of Lincoln High School.

Class History

By VICTOR NORMAN

1929-30 Freshmen

High school! Ah! Our dreams had at last come true! We entered the portals of Lincoln High School, numbering five hundred and forty-nine. With this force of over five hundred, our intentions for accomplishments were strong.

We were given the title of "Freshies," by the upper classmen. But we intended to live down this absurd name.

Our first great victory was secured when James Moore was unanimously elected delegate to the Athletic Association. From there on the upper classmen began looking up to us. We've shown them that we were going to ride alongside of them in everything; and in some instances, surpass them.

A few of our members attained high scholastic standings, and were permitted to have their names placed upon the honor roll. Those students were Mary E. Cole, Geneva Sampson, Gertrude Whitley, Arlene Anderson, James Moore and Murrel Lee.

We were highly and largely represented in the Student Council, although we were of the lower class.

Several members of our group took trends into the musical field. Our outstanding musicians were Byron Ellis, Oree Thomas, Maxine Sparks and Viola Murphy.

We happily ended our first school year. This year had been great, and many successes were attained. We were very grateful to our advisors who were so kind toward us throughout the school year.

1930-31 Sophomore

With a large decrease of one hundred and eighty-eight students, we returned from our vacation, more determined than ever. We were not going to let a thing like that hold us back, especially when we still had our former leaders.

This year we were termed Sophomores, or "Wise Fools." We immediately outlived that title by showing those upper classmen that we were wise—but not fools.

This year our honor role increased. Those fortunate enough to attain over an "S" average were Christine McDonald, Gertrude Whitley, Arlene Anderson, Ruth Redmond, Geneva Sampson, James Moore, Murrel Lee, Merle Herriford, Mary Cole, and Horace Marshall.

Several members of our group showed ingenious ability in the field of mathematics. Those students were Paul Byrd, Murrel Lee, James Moore, Horace Marshall, and Merle Herriford.

We were not only active in scholastic activities, but also prominent in the field of athletics. Our promising football stars were Albert Mosby, Obster Parker, Bertrand Neal, and Alonzo Redmond.

We showed our upper classmen that we were right along with them, when a large group of our members attended the annual R. O. T. C. hop.

School closed, and we ended our second year of high school. We again expressed our gratitude to our advisors, who guided us safely throughout the school year.

1931-32 Junior

Juniors! That is just what we were. We were at last among the upper classmen, which was our hearts' desire.

Our number has dwindled to one hundred and seventy-nine loyal students. Our number had decreased, but we were determined to fight on and make this year an overwhelming success.

James Moore was elected as our president and leader, this year.

Our athletic stars continued shining. Our outstanding football stars were Albert Mosby, Obster Parker, and Alonzo Redmond. We had some very promising basketball stars. These boys were Calvin Green and Fred Pugh. William Spigener was made captain of the tennis team.

We had the honor of having one of our group on the debating team. This team was composed of Seniors only. This lucky student was Alonzo Redmond.

Our musical stars continued to shine. Some were in the orchestra, and some in the band, and still others were soloists.

Ten members of our group were elected to the National Honor Society on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. They were Christine McDonald, Arlene Anderson, Gertrude Whitley, Ruth Redmond, Mary Cole, Geneva Sampson, Marguerite Pittman and Alonzo Redmond.

Many of our group were outstanding in the military department. They were William North, Vernon Walker, and James Moore. They won medals for rankings in the theoretical test.

A number of us wandered into the dramatic world. Some of our greatest talent was displayed in our annual play, "Cabbages or Dollars," featuring Jewel Milligan, Evelyn Collins, Bernice Moore, Dorothea Grant, Geraldine Boggs, Byron Ellis, Paul Jones, Albert Mosby, Alonzo Redmond, and Obster Parker.

Our reception to the Seniors was a pompous affair. School closed and we had finished our third year. This year had, indeed, been an overwhelming success.

Senior Girls' Glee Club

Members

Soprano—Arlene Anderson, Gertrude Whitley, Oree Thomas, Evelyn Collins.

Mezzo Soprano—Mary E. Cole, Marguerite Pittman, Maxine Sparks, Jewel Milligan, Clarice Wood, Helen Blakely.

Alto—Marianna Beck, Anna Jean Howell.

The Senior Girls' Glee Club is one among many of the foremost Senior groups. It consists of only girls who are hard and energetic workers and have taken an active part in the school activities. Most of the girls have worked in the Lincoln High School Chorus or other music groups. The Club has been outstanding in all of its extra-curricular activities, including its well known successful achievements on various church and civic programs, under its most competent leader, Miss Blanche Morrison.

ARLENE ANDERSON, '33.

1932-33 Senior

Ah! Seniors! The most dignified and sedate class of them all. We had reached the zenith of our high school career. We intended to make this year the most successful of them all. We were one hundred and fifty-eight strong.

James Moore was elected president of the Student Council. Others of our group were elected to important offices.

Our class officers were: Gertrude Whitley, president; James Moore, vice-president; Ruth Redmond, secretary; Bonnie Thompson, assistant secretary; Geneva Sampson, treasurer; Byron Ellis, sergeant-at-arms; Mary E. Cole, Critic.

A large number of our group received commissions in R. O. T. C. Louis Byrd was appointed major. Other honorary officers were Marianna Beck, Mary Cole, Arlene Anderson, and Gertrude Whitley.

Our dramatic stars produced four one-act plays. These plays, "No Tips Accepted," "Men Not Wanted," "You Know, I Know, Shake," and "Polishing Henry," were very good.

Five of our group entered the field of oratory. They were Jewel Milligan, Oree Thomas, James Moore, Alonzo Redmond and Obster Parker.

The hour of departure is drawing near. We are afraid words cannot express our feeling of gratitude toward our advisors and teachers who have worked so faithfully along with us to make our school years more than successful. We regret very much in leaving—but we are needed elsewhere.

So we say, "Farewell, dear old Lincoln!"

Senior Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserves has long been one of the favorite recreative groups. Girls upon entering the high school have joined this organization to obtain the opportunities and inspirations that it has to offer.

Despite the fact that this has been a year of financial depression, the Senior Girl Reserves has passed through a very prosperous year. They have participated in many activities during the year. The most outstanding activity has been the inter-racial work at the Central Y. W. C. A. Our representatives to this council were Marianna Beck, Bernice Moore, Gertrude Whitley, and Viola Murphy. The following girls participated in an inter-racial broadcast sponsored by the council: Arlene Anderson, Gertrude Whitley, Marianna Beck, Maxine Sparks, and Bernice Moore.

This has been the largest Senior Girl Reserve club of which Lincoln High can boast. There are fifty-four members. The officers are:

Christine McDonald	President
Marianna Beck	Secretary
Eglantine McCarthy	Treasurer

Class Prophecy

Once upon a midnight dreary,
While I pondered weak and weary,
I fell asleep and had a dream.
I was in the land where things are not what they seem.
I saw my classmates, every one,
Who had some task well done;
As I am endowed with the power to perceive
What is to come in the future.
I pray you ~~dear~~ ones my dream believe,
For I really cannot deceive you.

As I was lying on my divan, I fell into a semi-conscious sleep. Later I was awakened by some one calling my name. I opened my eyes and was startled to find a person standing in front of me, garbed in white. I closed my eyes and shook away the drowsiness and when I opened my eyes, the person put an end to my anxious wonderment and said:

"I am the future. I control every living object there is, the animate and the inanimate. Come with me and I will show you the future of your classmates."

Within the twinkle of an eye, I found myself in a dimly lighted room with dark velvet drapes and soft carpets. The room was long, like a corridor, which had at its end a small table, upon which was a large crystal ball. Behind this table, dressed in native costume, was none other than Madame Florine Garrett. I didn't ask the future from whence the madame came.

The next moment I found myself in front of an office marked "private," bearing the name of Lawrence Blankenship. I soon learned that his private secretary was Levada Kennymore. By the way, Blankenship is running a Nutt Factory.

The scene changed and I was in a radio studio. Byron Ellis was another Bing Crosby and Evelyn Collins was another Kate Smith. They seemed to have reached the height of their ambition in a big way.

Gosh! I am in a Modiste Shoppe now. Blanche Wilson is proprietress and Edith Smith and Ruth Jones are her seamstresses. Her chief models are Evelyn Hendricks, Armanda Kirkendall, Iris Potts, Anna Williams, Mayme Davis, Marguerite Pittman, Dorothea Grant, and Dorothy Wilkerson.

My, what perfumery! I am in a beauty shop now. Lady Jewel Milligan is the manager. Her operators are Marianna Beck, Lucille Herriford, Emogene Wilkerson, and Eglantine McCarthy.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson are observing the performance with a critical eye. By the way, Octavia Ruffin is the little wifey.

After a while the scene changed and I was in front of a huge building, marked "Tenement House Babies," with Mary E. Cole, Frances Williams, Juanita Smith, Carrie Fields and Wilma Palmer as nurses.

I was soon in a printing office. On the business staff were Victor Norman, Obster Parker, James Moore and Murrel Lee, John McNeely was editor of the sports column and Alice Smith, Anna Jean Howell and Josephine Hurse wrote novels. Christine McDonald was the out-of-town reporter. Helen Blakely was also a reporter.

Just across the street was a little shop, or a meeting house rather, which bore the name of "Amendment for Lonesome Lovers," and I learned that Vivian Powell was head of this organization. Her chief workers were Callie Freeman, Mary Lucille Davis and Virginia Bra-shears.

Just above this organization was a doctor's office. He was a dentist and his name, I learned, was Doctor Charles Bruce. His name was engraved in gold print on the window. I was so astonished, I almost fainted. The future told me you never know what your good friends may come to.

I recovered from the shock and found myself in an opera house where I saw Erma Twine playing a Walter Damrosch number. Maxine Sparks was the prima donna. Arlene Anderson was the leading lady in the opera called, "Martha!" What ho!

I am all turned around again. This time I'm in front of a mansion of loveliness. I am told that it belongs to the late Mrs. McClendon, better known as Miss Gertrude Whitley. Ah! There she is whizzing up the drive in that limousine. What a life!

Well, the scene has changed again. The future really works marvels. Here I am in Harlem. Henry Brown and Bertrand Neal are the hit of the show called "Dark Harlem." They are doing a Laurel and Hardy act. Believe it or not, but there goes Magnolia Banes down Fifth Avenue with her Russian poodle. What a dog and what a woman!

I am so tired now I can hardly stand up. The future tells me there are a lot more to see of my classmates, but I am weary now and have to stop.

"But before I release you," said the future, "I'll tell you your future."

Oh, I was glad because after seeing the future of many of my classmates I was anxious to know about my own future.

He said: "After all, the talents you possess may not help you in later life, because after all you are best suited for a housewife."

Oh, how that shocked me, but just the same I hope I will make good of that future.

OREE THOMAS, '33.

R. O. T. C. Notes

One of the outstanding departments of every high school is its Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

The R. O. T. C. unit, as in former years, has been very outstanding. It is considered one of the best departments of Lincoln High School.

The training received by the boys is not only military but points of good citizenship, courtesy and obedience are also taught.

The Lincoln High School Battalion has taken part in many of the city-wide functions.

The honor of Cadet Major was bestowed upon Lewis Byrd. Miss Marguerite Pittman was elected as Sponsor Major of the Battalion.

The Honorary Captains were appointed as follows: Company A., Marianna E. Beck; Company B., Gertrude Whitley; Company C., Mary E. Cole; Company D., Arlene M. Anderson.

The other appointments were as follows:

Giftonian

Here I am stranded on Treasure Island! Just my luck. But since I'm here, I might as well search for a buried chest or something. H'm, nothing to the east or west. Things look barren in the north—but to the south. There is a sunken place in the earth. I'll dig there. Ah! a trunk. Gee, but the locks are rusty. Now then a big pull and—oh! Gold! Here are other treasures, just the very things to give some of my '33 classmates. While waiting for a ship to pass by, I'll sort them out.

Here's a television set. I'll give it to Ida Jones so that she may see Roscoe Perry even though she is married and living in Wichita.

Here is just the thing for Shape, Form and Fashion, a book entitled "How to Have a Good Time at All Parties."

I'll give this packet of 100-dollar bills to Gertrude Whitley, so that she can go to College to develop her latent "potentialities."

To Jeraldine and Edna Boggs I'll give this gallon bucket of lip stick, though I know it will last only a few days.

To the Four Queens, I'll give this book on "How to Justly Criticize Clothes, Personalities, and Other Girls' Boy Friends."

To Victor Norman, the loquacious, I'll take this non-stopping Victrola. May it keep up with Victor.

Ah, just the gift for the Dusky "13." A book entitled, "Rules of Contract and Auction Bridge."

Heavens, what's this sticky stuff? A bottle of glue! I'll give it to the Four Leaf Clovers so that they may stick together through thick and thin.

Here's a jug of air for Paul Byrd. Now he won't have to "blow off" so much.

A nice, long list of instructions for a new walk. This is just what Magnolia Baines needs.

To the Four Shadows I'll take enough money to buy them a furnished house so that they may give their parties without confusion.

"Learn to Swim Without Straining Your Back." What could be more useful to Christine McDonald and Arlene Anderson than this little booklet?

To Oree Thomas, Clarice Woods, and Jewell Milligan, I'll give this miniature beauty shop so they may spend the rest of their lives putting on make-up.

A marriage license! An appropriate gift for Levada Kenneymore and Lawrence Blankenship.

Here are some rubber heels for Charles Marshall which will allow him to enter Miss Smothers' room without disturbing the class.

To Joe Brown, I'll give this book, "I," published by "Me & Company."

Here are five certificates giving the right to teach in any university. Marguerite Pittman, Alice Smith, Frances Williams, Murrel Lee and Horace Marshall have these.

What's this bundle all tied up with pink ribbon? Ah! Two little girls, Mary E. Cole and Marianna Beck! I'll give them to James Moore along with the copyright of the song, "Contented."

I'll take this passport to Honolulu; to Miss Brydie, Mr. Ellison and Mr. Cook so that they may have a real vacation this year.

To Josephine Hurse, I'll give this volume of books entitled "Toots," by Hawkins.

Here is a list of instructions called, "How to Be a Musician." I shall take it to Paul Jones and James Ross.

Two passports—one to Spain and one to France! Miss Woods shall certainly have her greatest wish fulfilled.

Here is another large bundle. I can hardly pull it out. Ah! At last. McKenzie Coleman. Just what Blanche Wilson can use.

To Eugene Higgins I shall give this title, "The Best Dressed Boy in Lincoln High School."

I shall take this food budget to the Good Fellows, then they can spend as much lunch money as they wish.

Here's a book by William Jennings Bryan, which gives all the points of oratory. Alonzo Redmond can use it as no one else can.

To Armanda Kirkendoll and Evelyn Hendricks, I shall take this permit allowing them to gossip about their Sunday night experiences.

Ooh! Such a cumbersome package! Why, it's Evelyn Lyons. I'll give her to Bernice Moore and Hartwell Yeargens as a chapeoron since she has proved to be such a persistent one this last year.

To Mr. Mayberry, I'll take this alarm clock, then his senior boys can be sure that their hour after school is up.

To Miss Baker, I shall give this certificate denoting her as one of the nicest and most practically dressed women in Lincoln High.

Here's a neat little package. It smells of fish. By jove! Sardine and graham crackers. Miss Smothers' favorite dish. I shall give them to her as soon as I reach L. H. S.

What a nifty book. I will take it to Miss Barker, for it is called "Sweetness." May she always be that way.

Now the treasure trunk is empty. But wait—another small package. Ah, a bountiful supply of good luck, happiness and success! This I give to each one of my classmates.

What is that I see there? A ship! Yoo-hoo, captain! Oh, Captain! No, sir, no luggage, only my treasure chest. Ship ahoy! sir, on to the harbor of L. H. S.

Class Will

As the end drew nigh, we, the Senior Class of 1933, were suddenly aroused from a sweet reverie by the realization that we must leave our acquisitions of the past four years in inexperienced hands.

I was delegated from the rank of dreamers to collect all our many possessions and distribute them with well wishes to those whom we leave behind.

The first article in my hasty collection was the key to the campus which I leave in all sincerity to the incoming Freshmen.

Among our mythical possessions is a complete historical library which I leave to Mr. Love and Mr. Howell of the History Department.

I will a separate building from the school containing a modern courtroom and jail to Mr. Griffin who advises the Department of Justice.

To Dorothy Poole and others in the Art Department, I will the skill and interest of Ruth Hodges and Evelyn Lyons.

To Mr. Ellison, I will his full capacity of work in the office so he won't make so many students uneasy when he tours the corridors at lunch period.

I will the Senior Medal for outstanding talent in Reading from Mr. J. H. Bluford to as many of the Juniors as desire to take Chemistry next year.

I will Mr. Mayberry another equally outstanding student as Alice Ausbie in Sociology and Economics.

I will to some honored Junior Girl, Locker No. 64 with the mirror in the door which has been there for at least three years and has proved a place of attractions for boys as well as girls.

To the Physics Department, I will louder demonstration bells so that when students ring them, they can be mistaken for bells of dismissal and thus please the whole school.

To the Junior Girls, I will the first six rows of choicest seats in the Assembly Hall.

To Mr. Cook, I will a large bag of peanuts to share with Mr. Howell.

To Mr. Morrison, I will a phonograph record of his famous expression, "Slower and Hit," so he won't have to say it to his Dramatic Classes so much.

To Alice Ravelle, Bernice Hill, Alice Bell and Grace Kennedy, I will the Dramatic talent of Evelyn Collins.

To Wendell Phillips, I will the dramatic seriousness of Oster Parker.

To George Claridy, I will the stage versatility and amusing talents of Albert Mosby.

To Jesse Edmund, I will another Christine as popular as Christine McDonald who brought so much pleasure into his life.

To the Debating Team, I leave another Alonzo Redmond, whose talent as a debater, brought much honor to Lincoln High School.

To Miss Baker, I will a dictaphone so that all her valuable talks of advice to girls may be preserved.

To Miss Smothers, I will some more students with the thoughtfulness and responsiveness of Marianna Beck and Marguerite Pittman.

To Ruth Kelly, I leave a place at the orchestral piano formerly occupied by Viola Murphy and Maxine Sparks.

To Miss Barker, I will the "cream of the crop" to become members of the Better English Society.

To Eunice Miller, I leave the strong oratorical voice of Jewell V. Milligan.

To Mrs. Goss, I will another student as admiring as Josephine Hurse and an equally progressive group as well.

To all the new sophomores, I will the privilege of telling the Freshmen to "Take the elevator to the sixth floor."

To Hazel Fleming, I will a continuously full social calendar with another musically inclined gentleman comparable with Paul Jones.

To Paul Herrera, Raymond Timmons, and D. L. McIntosh, I will the popularity of Willis Mullins, the amusing character of Horace Marshall, and the studiousness of Merle Herriford, our small Senior specimens.

To Harry Ferguson, I will the composer-cornetist talent of James Ross.

To Herschel Cannon, I will the sign-painting talents of Hartwell Yeargans.

I leave all the wind of Edwin Reeves, and Byron Ellis to Monroe Poindexter, Alfred Richardson and Wardell Scott so that they may run tirelessly to victory.

To L. C. McClendon, I leave a new girl who measures up to Gertrude Whitley in intelligence and friendliness, and who may give him the same inspiration which Gertrude did to fight a victorious battle in active sports.

To Dayse Murphy and Theresa Robinson, I will the perseverance of Geneva Sampson, coupled with her unusual intelligence.

To Zadell Collins, I will the dignified posture and carriage of Anna Jean Howell.

To Rachel Bernice Jackson, I leave the high salaried position of Feature Story Editor of the Lincolnite Monthly, '34, and the added talents in creative writing which formerly belonged to Christine McDonald.

Camp Fire Girls

The Wanneka Camp Fire Girls, under the guardianship of Miss W. Gaynelle Mason, have been very outstanding in their work this year. They sang over the radio at Christmas. They attended the Grand Council Fire in March and received several group and individual honors.

The group received the honor of the Needle Work Guild. They made 22 infants' garments. Mary E. Cole received the third highest rank in Camp Fire last year, that of Torchbearer's Rank. Uldine Johnson received Torchbearer's Rank this year. Those who are Firemakers, or the third rank are: Viola Murphy, Daisy Murphy, Marguerite Pittman and Jewel Milligan. The second rank girls or Woodgatherers, are: Anna J. Howell, Marjorie Beck, Lucille Herriford, Carmen Gayhardt, Carrie Hollins, Susan Cespides, Maxine Sparks, and Merrill Williams. The membership girls, or those without rank, are: Zadell Collins, Emma Tate, Eglantine McCarthy, Evelyn Smith, Georgia Hollins, Vivian Powell, and Ida Flannagan. The officers of the club for the year are: Marianna Beck, president; Susan Cespides, vice-president; Mary E. Cole, secretary; Carmen Gayheart, assistant secretary, and Daisy Murphy, treasurer.

CLASS WILL—(Continued)

To Miss Arnold, I will an admit-signing machine so that students won't have to be late to class waiting to get an admit.

To Georgia Hollins, I will the Butterfly personality and gayety of Jerry Boggs.

To Marcelline Jones and Evelyn Price, I leave the height of Ruth Redmond.

To Rhoda Mae Scott, I leave the poise of Dolores Ellis.

To Miss Brydie, I will a greenhouse so she may have all the flowers she wants for her desk to cheer up the dreary and solemn office.

To Miss Baird, I will a duo-personality so that she may at least be in two places at once to bestow her cheerful smile on the downhearted.

To the Chemistry Class, I will another genius like Paul Byrd.

To Mr. Jeffress, I leave a private office and complete office force to help him manage the many versatilities of his character.

There! My possessions have just about run out, except for a large bundle of school loyalty which I leave to be divided equally among all the students.

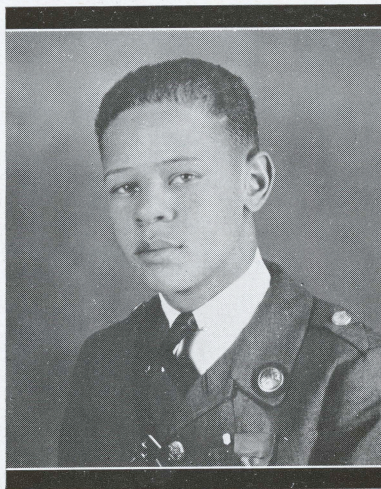

With due thankfulness to those who chose me as the executor of this will, I now place my signature hereto, trusting that these few things which I have given will be received in good faith and used or preserved as their nature demands.

BERNICE INEZ MOORE, '33.

Student Council

JAMES MOORE
President

The Student Council is to some degree the governing body of the school. It punishes offenders who do not conduct themselves properly outside the classroom and during the school hours. The school punishes such offenders as those who leave the school grounds without due authority during school hours, and those who disturb the tranquility of the student body outside the classroom.

The Student Council is composed of representatives from each advisory, one each from the Freshman, and Sophomore advisories, two from Junior advisories, and three from the Senior advisories. This variation is due to the decreasing number of students in the upper class, thus the representatives must be increased so that each class may have equal representation. The representatives of the senior groups, and the advisory they represent are as follows: Miss Smothers, Alice Ausbie, Mary Cole and Lucille Herriford; Mrs. Goss, Josephine Hurse, Armanda Kirkendoll and Bernice Moore; Miss Barker, Edith Smith, Jennie Vincent and Frances Williams; Mr. Mayberry, James Moore, Murrel Lee, Bertrand Neal, and Eugene Higgins.

The representatives nominate all the officers and elect all candidates with the exception of the president and the vice-president. The latter candidates are voted upon by the student body; the one receiving the highest vote is president, and the other automatically becomes vice-president. The officers and chairmen of the various departments for the past year are:

JAMES MOORE	President
MARY E. COLE	Vice-President
BERNICE MOORE	Secretary
ARMANDA KIRKENDOLL	Sergeant-at-Arms
JOSEPHINE HURSE	Treasurer
BERTRAND NEAL	Department of Justice
EDITH SMITH	Department of Awards
ALICE AUSBIE	Department of Foreign Relations
ALBERT MARSHALL	Department of Safety
LUCILLE HEHHIFORD	Department of Recreation

OUR COMMENCEMENT

This class of 1933 has launched upon a new course. Far be it from them to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors, blindly. They have chosen their own way to the shore of graduation. They have adopted the idea of a democratic commencement—the first to be attempted in a Kansas City high school.

Everyone realizes what this type of commencement means in the history of our school. Our patrons and even some of our faculty look upon our venture rather skeptically. Even so, the members of the class have unerring faith in their chosen leaders and their ideas. All they ask is that the public await the success that is sure to be ours.

Heretofore, our commencement exercises have been only for a few. Just that select group that had sacrificed good fun, loyalty and service to the school for a good grade. Those who upheld Lincoln on the field, on the stage, and in her commercial department composed only the background in the final development of the picture.

Now it is to be different. The masses will hold the center of the stage, for after all, is not the work done by the class as a whole far more important than that done by the selfish individual?

BARBARA C. McDONALD,
Assistant Editor.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Extra-curricular activities are as important in a high school's program as the studies of the curriculum. The former provide the "spice of life" in a wholesome recreational form, when relieved from the monotonous routine of the latter.

Half the things learned in a classroom are soon forgotten, another fourth, we cannot use. From educational clubs connected with the school, a student learns things that are not only useful in future life, but in the present.

Traits of character and mental and physical qualities are also better developed in extra-curricular activities. In the classroom the teacher is the compelling force, but in these activities, one does things on his own initiative. In athletics all five senses of a student are developed to the uttermost, for they have to rise to crucial moments at most unexpected times. Athletics also provides boys and girls training which includes activities for the betterment of their health and development.

With such assets in extra-curricular activities, why should not more students take an active part, and encourage others to do so?

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Lincolnite staff of 1933 takes this opportunity to thank its many admirers who have been diligent, faithful and untiring in their efforts to make this Lincolnite possible and successful. We wish to express our gratitude for the moral, literary, and financial support given by the student body, teachers, and friends.

JAMES MOORE, Editor.

Alonzo Redmond: Mr. Gaines, I don't see how football players ever get clean.

Mr. Gaines: Well, what do you suppose the scrub teams are for?

Mrs. Waters: The right leg of the patient is shorter than the left, which causes him to limp. What would you do in a case of this kind, Arlene?

Arlene Anderson: I'd limp, too.

James Ross: My dad gives me a whipping nearly every day.

Mr. Howell: You should be like George Washington. He didn't get any lickings.

James: Yeah, but he's getting plenty now.

Mr. Howell: How's that?

James: On the back of postage stamps.

Tenola Mitchell: What will it cost me to have my car fixed?

Mr. Russell: What's wrong with it?

Tenola: I don't know.

Mr. Russell: Fifty-two dollars and fifty cents.

Mr. Bluford: Why are you late, Roscoe?

Roscoe: The bell rang before I could get here.

Miss Morrison: Now the chorus will sing hymn number 18, by special permission of the copyright owners.

Miss Mason: Jimmie, what is Roosevelt's first name?

James Moore: President.

Mr. White: That fellow Jonah was sure nice, wasn't he?

Roscoe Perry: Well, he may have made a good impression with you, but it was a different story in the whale's stomach.

Mr. Love: Is it true that when King Solomon had a birthday he had a birthday cake that has never been surpassed?

Josie Hurse: Yep, one thousand layers.

Mr. Thompson: Of what importance is the yeast plant?

James Taylor: Good bread and home brew.

Mr. Stone: What is the definition of life?

Marguerite Pittman: A bowl of cherries.

Miss Baker: What is the name of your model airplane?

James Robinson: "Lucille."

Miss Woods: Whose paper is this? I see no name on it.

Ruth Redmond: It's mine, Miss Woods. See, I have my initials on it.

Miss Woods: Oh, I see, but I was always taught that R. R. stood for railroad.

Christine: What can I do for a sore heel?

Mrs. Waters: Don't walk.

Mr. Howell: Will you vote to abolish capital punishment?

Gertrude Whitley: No! Capital punishment was good enough for father and it's good enough for me.

Horace Marshall: My big sister's boy friend sure knows his stuff when it comes to necking, all right, all right.

Merle Herriford: Yeh, my sister's beau knows all the tricks, too. Last night when I went to peek through the keyhole, he had his hand over it.

Victor Norman: Has the depression had any effect on you?

Alonzo Redmond: Not at all. I am still getting three hots a day.

Mr. Mayberry: James, you are to stay in the room during your lunch hour for talking.

James Taylor: Okey. I can't eat anything but air sandwiches today, anyway.

A "Beck" and a call and we leave you all with a house "To(l)let(t)" for it is too "Small(s)."

We had a "Grant" of land, where "Herri-fords" grazed.

And our cherished "Green" "Fields," tilled by "Sampson" were cherished.

After the "Cole" winter, budding "Young" trees were seen.

And wild flowers unkindred by "Potts" endeared each scene.

We "Walk-er" "Brown" roads on "Foote" day after day.

Passing the "Boggs" to which our "Madd-ox" was a prey.

Nothing there to ward off his danger and so it was,

As though water in our "Wells," for naught!

The "Miller," with his ever busy "Mills," Are "North" of the "Wood" and over the hill.

His friend the "Strong" "Smith", a laboring swain,
Strikes "Sparks" with the "Sledge" as if in disdain.

But our dear village and country of old,
No "Moore" shall we, these sights behold.

THINGS I NEVER KNEW TILL NOW

That there is much truth in Miss Smothers' lectures.

That Mrs. Goss' admonishings are well worth remembering.

That there will be a terrible void in my heart when I leave O' Lincoln High.

That English Literature is a joy forever.

That Lincoln High would ever have a democratic form of commencement.

That Mr. Jackson is quite a competitor of Will Rogers.

That Mr. Marsden carries a Mona Lisa smile.

That Mr. Ellison could actually laugh.

That Miss Payne was another Marie Dressler.

That I would ever be an Alumnus.

ARMANDA KIRKENDOLL.

Miss Smothers: Why do they send for you to come to the office so often?

L. D. Smith: Mr. Ellison and I have been talking over politics.

Smiles

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO BE:

As good a sport as Alonzo Redmond?
 As faithful as William Spigener?
 As witty as Lawrence Blankenship?
 As sociable as Eugene Higgins?
 As intelligent as Merle Herriford?
 As young and innocent as Frederick Myers?
 As well dressed as Bonnie Thompson?
 As attractive as Eglantine McCarthy?
 As cleverly dressed as Louise Franklin?
 As peppy as Dorothea Grant?
 As baby-faced as Lucille Miller?
 As young and innocent as Myrtle Allen?
 As quiet as Willetta Mills?
 As sociable as Norma Williams?
 An unconcerned as Stella Fields?
 As high tempered as Maxine Sparks?
 As faithful as Emogene Wilkerson?
 As instructive as Alice Ausby?
 As timid as Mildred Hopkins?
 As intelligent as Alice Smith?
 As pleasant as Blanche Wilson?
 ARLENE ANDERSON, '33.

HAVE YOU EVER OBSERVED

That Mr. Morrison wears a bored look at times.
 That Miss Byrdie will some day own a pair of angel wings.
 That Mr. Love asks his students to raise their hands when they are talking in the classroom.
 That Mr. Bryant speaks from a psychological standpoint.
 That Miss Baird wears the sweetest smile.
 That Miss Barker knows how to choose clothes.
 That Mr. Herriford is just like a play boy. (We need a toy.)
 That Mr. Ellison is only interested in the school's welfare.
 That Mr. Bluford wishes to teach "reading" instead of chemistry.
 That Mr. White walks just like a soldier.
 That Mr. Howell could eat a barrel of peanuts during a lunch hour.
 That Mr. Jeffress talks like an Englishman.

OREE THOMAS.

The Senior Class of '33 seems to have divided itself into little groups of threes, fours and fives. These groups are made up of boys and girls having things in common. Some such groups are:

The Four Leaf Clover—Christine McDonald, Arlene Anderson, Gertrude Whitely, Ruth Redmond.

The Four Queens—Anne Smalls, Emogene Wilkerson, Marianna Beck, Lucille Herriford.

The Good Fellows—Geneva Sampson, Bernice Moore, Viola Murphy, Johnette Tollette.

"Shape, Form, Fashion and Style"—Ruth Jones, Norma Williams, Eglantine McCarthy, Mary Cole.

The Five B's—Laura Robinson, Georgia Watkins, Stella Fields, Rose Mary Strong, Jenny Vincent.

The Four Aces—Tenola Mitchell, Byron Ellis, Bonnie Thompson, Leicester Jones.

The Four Shadows—William Spigener, John Bean, George Allen, Hartwell Yeargans.

RUTH MARCELLA REDMOND.

THE MEMORANDUM OF 1932-33

Our school year has been one of pleasure and because of this fact we are making a copy of our various activities during the year as follows:

September 6—School began. Football games were the attractions of this month.

October 27—The big football game with Sumner in their new stadium.

November 9—Armistice Day assembly.

November 10—No school, State Teachers' Association.

November 14—We mourned for Ralph Butler, one of our beloved classmates, who passed away November 12.

November 22—Seniors entertain with a vaudeville for Junior Red Cross.

December 8—Address by Rev. Williams "Know Your School."

December 16—Senior class presented picture as memorial of Ralph Butler to his family, and basketball team played in Atchison.

December 23—Christmas Pageant.

January 5—Mrs. Hubbard, member of "Rhapsody in Black," guest artist in the assembly.

January 7—Game with St. Joseph.

January 12—Lecture by Col. Thommy Taylor.

January 14—Lincoln-Sumner game.

January 19—Game with Lawrence.

January 26—The Alumni gave an entertainment.

February 18—Senior girls' broadcast over WOQ.

March 7—Beginning of Dr. Sarah Brown's series of lectures.

March 17—We saw the "Four-one-act Plays," a cast of all seniors.

March 30—Anti-noise assembly.

April 13—Presentation of Easter Pageant.

April 28—We saw the Junior play.

May 12—Big musical and annual field day.

May 26—The Senior play a closing feature.

Poet's Corner

IN OTHER DAYS

I sat beside a silver stream
And caught the brightness of its gleam
Which lulled me in a golden dream
Of other days.

A horse appeared with fiery mane
A rider too with mail of flame
Mounted lordly for his great fame
Of other days.

Behold a damsel with raven hair
Plays heavenly strains on an olden lyre
A beast lurks near her to ensnare
Of other days.

The Knight rode up with shield upheld
He smote the beast, the beast was fell'd
And maid and lyre were safe and well
In other days.

The bubbling stream did dance in glee
And I awoke to stare and see
It blithely, lightly laughed at me
For dreaming ever now to be
In other days.

—Christine McDonald.

CLASSMATES

We have journeyed down the years,
Classmates of the way.
You have been a staff to me,
Through night and day.
What your presence means to me,
I can never say.

Storms have beaten on the path,
Which our way led through,
But a share of sunny skies
Has been ours, too;
And this road is treasured now,
Just because of you.

We still journey down the years,
Classmates, dear to me,
Storms or sunshine may be ours,
Which we cannot see;
Yet, if I but have you still,
I shall happy be.

—Harry Whaley.

OUR VOYAGE

When I was once in a foreign land
A man came up to me,
"Come, I have a gallant ship,
We'll sail on High School's Sea."

"If you will sail with me," he said,
"I'll fit you out for life;
I'll let you conquer worldly wrongs
And win—through toil and strife."

It was not long till I'd agreed
To try this stormy way.
We soon had cleared the harbor's mouth,
And came to Sophomore Bay.

For months it was a treacherous trip,
But by a lucky break
We overcame the pounding waves,
And came to Junior Strait.

Ah! what a gorgeous place this was!
And such a lovely clime!
We lay around and rested up
Just had a nifty time.

So now we've come to Senior Point
Although we've had to fight;
We'll say adieu to L. H. S.
And make a broader strike.

And now that we have crossed one lap,
I'm sure you'll all agree,
We'll prove ourselves as sailors true—
The class of '33.

—Ruth Redmond, '33.

WHERE TO FROM HERE?

Where to from here, dear class of '33?
Where are we going today?
Over the hills, across the lane,
And out some place to play?

Where to from here, dear class of '33?
Where are we going to look?
Across the town and back again,
Pestering Mr. Cook?

No! No! dear class of '33,
Neither to pester nor play.
We are going out to conquer the world,
And surpass the people of yesterday.

—Carrie Fields.

IN MEMORIAM

Time dims the light of other days;
Youth and its joys fade away
Save what from heaven, wafts our way.
But love's remembrances still remain.

RALPH BUTLER
MARY TAYLOR
JESSIE MOORE

“No Ways Tired....”

For 15 years the Call has stood as a vigilant guardian of the rights of Kansas City's colored population. It has shouldered their grievances, waged their battles, told the story of their achievements, spurred on their ambitions.

The way has not been easy. Battle-scarred, but still fighting and climbing, the Call looks back with pleasure upon years marked by some inevitable defeats and many notable victories. It feels that one of its greatest contributions has been the opportunity for employment it has offered to trained young people. It anticipates with keen enjoyment the continued right to serve Kansas City in the future.

We would pass on to you, the graduates of Lincoln high school, one bit of philosophy. You too have overcome barriers to reach graduation day. We admonish you to continue your efforts toward ultimate success. Become “no ways tired” of the struggle. High courage and determination will win your individual goals.
